Salzburg

Wednesday, 18.05. – Friday, 20.05.

Salzburg between tradition and modernity – 25 years UNESCO World Cultural Heritage

Salzburg is world famous as the birthplace of Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart, as the stage for the Salzburg Festival and as the location for the Sound of Music. If you take a closer look, you will discover perfect harmony of nature and architecture embedded in the wonderful panorama of the surrounding mountains and lakes.

In 1997 Salzburg's old town was placed on UNESCO's list of World Cultural Heritage: in addition to the uniqueness of the old town and the prince-archbishop's architecture of the city, Salzburg's importance as a music metropolis and the birthplace of W.A. Mozart were decisive for the award. A walk through the baroque town on the river Salzach, which is celebrating 25 years of UNESCO World Heritage this year, lets history breathe. Narrow streets, listed landmark buildings and magnificent squares – these are the things we know and love about Salzburg. But the city has more than just one face: extravagant architecture, spectacular works of art, contemporary design and trendy restaurants stand in sharp contrast to the baroque city's nostalgic flair. The post tour offers an insight into today's Salzburg, a city shaped by the course of time between tradition and modernity.

Tirol: Ötzi Trek

Monday, 18.05. – Saturday, 21.05.

The Ötzi Trek - On the Trail of the Iceman

The new ASI long-distance hiking trail across the Alps

On the trail of the Iceman, we hike between North Tyrol/Austria and South Tyrol/Italy across the Alps. The new ASI long-distance hiking trail from Landeck to Bolzano allows us to discover the route that people took well over 5000 years ago to cross the mighty main ridge of the Alps. Along the way were hunters who traded, or, like Ötzi, were on the run from persecution. The Ötzi Trek takes you past places and sites of the early human history, framed by an exciting story.

Experience a rugged and fantastic mountain landscape, characterized by mystical marshes, lonely mountain passes, and eternal ice. The highlight of the trail is a visit to the site where Ötzi was found, at an altitude of over 3000m. Surrounded by a unique mountain landscape, here you will experience the history of the death of the Iceman, how he lived, and where he came from. Our post-tour to the ATB Fair will show you some selected routes of the Ötzi trek, the new ASI Signature Way. The ASI original journey leads us, in 8 days, from Landeck, Austria to Bolzano, South Tyrol, where the preserved mummy of the Iceman is located today.

Meeting point at 02:00 pm, main entrance ACV/ Austria Center Vienna

Important: Please do not forget to bring your luggage to ACV in the morning.

Program:

Wednesday, 18.05.2022

Arrival in the Ötztal. Welcome in the Ötztal at the joint dinner and short presentation of the planned programme of the next days.

Thursday, 19.05.2022 (Walking time: approx. 4h. Ascent/Descent: approx. 575 Hm Distance: approx. 8km)

We visit the Ötzi village in Umhausen. The archaeological open-air park offers a lively insight into the time when Ötzi lived. Among other things, you can see authentically reconstructed huts, tools, weapons, historical pets, a 1:1 replica of the place where "Ötzi" was found and much more. From the Ötzi village we hike to the Stuibenfall. The highest waterfall in Tyrol plunges almost 150 m into the depths. An impressive suspension bridge allows you to get up close to the power of the water. After a rest, the tour continues up to the Taufererberg. 9000 years ago, one of the largest landslides in the Eastern Alps buried the Ötztal valley and at the same time piled up the Taufererberg. The high plateau with its unique vegetation and the alternation between boulders, caves and vantage points provides material for myths and stories. Transfer back to the hotel from the end of the hike. In the evening presentation of the Ötzi-Trek and/or the Ötztal.

Friday, 20.05.2022 (Walking time: approx. 2,5h Ascent/Descent: approx. 325 Hm Distance: approx. 5,5km)

Transfer to Vent. The mountaineering village at the foot of the Wildspitze, the highest mountain in Tyrol, is considered the cradle of mountain tourism in Austria. Around 1860, the priest Franz Senn, who was working here at the time, developed the first concepts for tourism to bring locals and tourists together. From the village we hike in a few minutes to the Hohlen Stein. Excavations and finds of shards, arrowheads and axes have shown that people who came from the south across the Alps were already resting and spending the night under this huge boulder in Ötzi's time. Our hike takes us from here further into the Rofental valley, past a prehistoric hunter's camp. Here, too, findings prove that this place was already used by hunters and gatherers for resting in the Stone Age, i.e. 5000 - 8000 years ago. We then reach the Rofen farms via a suspension bridge. The mountain farms at an altitude of 2,014 m are the highest all-year farms in Austria. (Possibly a stop for refreshments?). From Vent a transfer takes us back to the hotel. In the evening presentation of the Ötzi Trek and/or the Ötztal Valley.
